

We do not want you to change the no call list. It works fine the way it is except for a few companies that don't care about it.